

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention relates to an isolated polynucleotide having a polynucleotide sequence which codes for the sigH gene, and a host-vector system having a coryneform host bacterium in which the sigH gene is present in attenuated form and a vector which carries at least the sigH gene according to SEQ ID No 1, and the use of polynucleotides which comprise the sequences according to the invention as hybridization probes.

00942936 002101